

Climate shifts the probability of developmental forms.

Many climate dimensions are associated with where fires fall in VASE space, but they do not determine a single pathway.

Takeaway: climate redistributes fires across developmental possibilities.